STILL ON DISCOURSE AND ARGUMENTATION...

This edition of the JADIS – CIED Conference will address issues related to discourse and argumentation. It will focus on the concept of argumentation in different scientific and theoretical frameworks and the possibility of building bridges between them. It will also discuss the major challenges posed by new digital technologies, artificial intelligence – human vs artificial argumentation – and the "post-truth era".
This theme is situated at the intersection of technology, language, and society, instigating reflections on the future of discourse and argumentation in an increasingly digital and automated scenario.
